Great City of the Past

Tyre, one of the most famous cities of antiquity, was situated partly on the mainland and partly on a peninsula off the coast of Syria. It was the great port of the Phoenicians from the Tenth century B. C. to its capture in 332 B. C. by Alexander the Great of Macedonia, who led his victorious army through the East to the frontiers of India.

Love's Madness

IT WAS under a summer's moon that Lorraine gave her heart into George Miller's keeping. Never were two souls more rapturously happy. Then the handsome, fascinating, devil-may-care Captain Stephens came into her life.

At first she accepted his attentions as a mere diversion. Had she only foreseen the disaster that lay just ahead!

But she went blindly ahead until one night she found herself entangled in a most fearful adventure—as helpless as a bit of driftwood, lashed and driven by the fury of the storm.

And that was only the beginning. The anguish, the pathetic hopelessness of the days that followed are grippingly described by Lorraine in "My Soldier Lover"—one of the sixteen big features in July True Story Magazine. Don't miss it!

"HE TRIED TO GRAB ME IN HIS ARMS. Enraged, I flung him off, but he had been drinking and—"

(Above)—SHE LOOKED SO INNOCENT—Yet she was a girl to whom nobody spoke, who had no friends. Her story, "Sacrifice and Shame" in July True Story is one you will never forget.

The Most Heart-Stirring Stories Ever Told

SAID a literary novice to a great master: "Where shall I find stories that stir men's souls?" And the master replied: "Look into your own heart!"

The human heart contains stories more thrilling than any that come from the fictionist's pen—dramatic, soul-stirring narratives—stories that grip the imagination, and paint a convincing picture of life. These are the real tales of adventure and romance—told by men and women who have been at grips with life, and are writing from experience. That is why True Story is the favorite Magazine among over eight million readers. In the July issue there are sixteen profoundly absorbing features. Now on sale at all newsstands. Get your copy today.

(Above)—TRAPPED!—Sally found them to mean to her more than honeyed words and gracious attentions to embrace. See "My Wrecked Romance." (July True Story)

(Left)—"FRIGHTENED, SHE ROSE"—He loved her, but if she learned the truth about him, she would forsake him. Don't miss "Playing Square" in July True Story.

Outfit of Poiret Twill Is Worn by Billie Dove

Billie Dove, the "movie" star, who appears to particular advantage in the tailored mode of spring, has been seen wearing a navy blue suit designed along the newest lines. It is of Poiret twill, has set-in pockets, long mannish sleeves and kickpleated skirt. A smart hat of navy blue taffeta is faced in beige silk. Rose beige also contributes a chic silk blouse while beige buttoned gloves, pouch bag, hose and black patent leather pumps are completed in accessories by a rose-beige camelia. Miss Dove has an opportunity to wear this outfit in a scene from her film, "An Affair of the Follies."

Bridal Veil Draped to Flatter the Individual

Individual draping of the bride's veil remains the rule of all smart establishments. Every soft fold is manipulated to its most becoming line, while the prospective bride watches the process in the mirror. As a rule the long face is flattered by an arrangement well down on the forehead, while the higher line is preferable for the short face. The coronet gives a stately effect and is best suited to the tall bride, although no hard and fast ruling is to be accepted as to the use of any particular type of draping. Under the deft fingers of an expert the cap, best suited to the oval face, may be adjusted by a drapery brought in closely at the sides, giving the effect of the oval face. Another expert makes the large face appear smaller by building out at the sides in a manner to make the features assume a more delicate aspect. Then, too, a large face may be softened by a rather high halo or coronet arrangement. With the small face, however, care must be taken to keep the draping and garniture subdued.

How Hosiery Figures in Assembling of Costume

This season marks a new era in the hosiery world, for never before has so much attention been devoted to its part in the assembling of a costume. Color is of course the most important factor, especially with regard to the new compose treatments that embody two or more colors or even varying shades of a single color. In such instances the predominating color governs the stocking shades, particularly if it is near the hemline.

Stockings are either of medium weight or sheer texture, the sheer being preferred for practically every occasion. Exceptions are those for active sports wear or those to be worn with heavy-soled street oxfords that have low heels. Fancy pumps, high-heeled oxfords and the accepted afternoon and evening slippers all call for the sheer styles.

Many Winsome Shades on Spring Color Card

The importance of color this season cannot be overemphasized. Its use is governed by so much subtlety, its nuances are so varied and its tonal values so adroitly exploited that the color schemes of other seasons seem almost like kindergarten efforts.

Probably never before has there been such a play upon the different tones of a single color and it is doubtful if any one color was made up of such an infinite variety of shades as it is today.

To one who thinks in terms of red, pink, green, yellow and blue the wide range of tones that come under the classification of each color is a revelation.

Ornamental Buckles Essential Trimmings

Paris spring styles are more a matter of smart accessories than ever. One of the essentials of the mode is ornamental buckles. One house puts out buckles of a material called galalith, said to be a formula in which milk and sulphuric acid are blended.

The greatest recommendation of galalith is its lightness. The house has worked out many attractive designs in the composition which can be made to simulate wood, enamel, reptile skin or leather.

Dana, No. 165 Elmendorf street, when Miss Ruth Dana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dana, became the charming June bride of Walter Whetstone, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whetstone of Wayne, Pennsylvania. The home was made lovely with floral decorations of June flowers. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate families of the bride and groom by the Rev. Dr. Putnam Cady, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, of which Miss Dana has always been an active and loved member. There were no attendants. The bride was most winsome in a gown of orchid georgette with lace and carried Butterfly and Grace Coolidge roses. The bride is one of Kingston's most gracious and accomplished daughters, being a graduate of Kingston High School and of the Ithaca Conservatory of Music. She has also closely identified herself with the Y. W. C. A. where she has endeared herself to her companions who will miss her greatly. The groom has made a special study of mechanical engineering at both Cornell and Johns Hopkins Universities and is engaged in business with his father at Wayne, Penn., where Mr. and Mrs. Whetstone will make their home for the summer following an extended honeymoon trip in the south. Following a wedding breakfast served by Mrs. Daley, the young couple left amidst a shower of confetti and the best wishes of a wide circle of friends besides those in attendance upon the ceremony.

Cole-Krueger.

Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock a very largely attended wedding took place at Trinity Lutheran Church, corner Spring and Hone streets, about 500 people being present. The groom, Allen E. Cole, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Montague Cole of Ulster Park, and the bride, Miss Hilda M. Krueger, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Krueger of 107 Abeel street. The bride wore a white Canton crepe gown ornamented with pearls. The veil was of lace. The maid of honor wore a coral colored crepe dress, trimmed with silver beads, and bund to match. The bridal procession entered the church with the little Misses Olivera Krueger and Vivian Paulus as flower girls, followed by the groom with Miss Florence Krueger as maid of honor, and ended with the best man, Arthur E. Smith, leading the bride. William H. Fretzsch, Jr., officiated at the organ. Mrs. Katherine Thiel sang "Oh, Promise Me" at the beginning of the service and "Comfort One Another" at the close. Passing out of the church the flower girls led, followed by the newly wedded couple and the maid of honor and best man. The chancel and altar were most tastefully decorated with palms and flowers. The pastor of the church, the Rev. William H. Fretzsch, performed the ceremony. The ushers were Edward Krueger, a brother of the bride, and Winfield Cole, a brother of the groom. At 5 o'clock a bountiful repast was served to 125 guests at the home of the bride. The couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts besides substantial sums in gold and checks. Monday morning Mr. and Mrs. Cole motored to Niagara Falls and other places of interest when they will return to reside in Ulster Park. KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 7, 1927.

There have been so many remarkable features connected with the Lindbergh flight across the Atlantic that one hesitates to pick out any of them for special mention. But surely a few details of that epochal event will not soon be forgotten. One was the naivete shown by Lindbergh when he took with him letters of introduction to certain Parisians, fully expecting to present them on his arrival, because he didn't suppose anyone in Paris would know him. When has there been, in the eye of the world, a case of such sincere and monumental modesty?

Taking candy from children would seem to be a weak comparison for the meanness of Uncle Sam in grabbing a slice of Lindbergh's prize money as income tax. The sum of $1,233.75, it appears, is now owed by the last man to make America famous. Perhaps Congress can find a way to reimburse Capt. Lindbergh. But if not, there are compensations. If the flyer accepts half the offers made him in the last few days, he will soon be making so much money that Uncle Sam's first bite out of his rewards will be almost too small a fraction of his income tax to be seen without a microscope.

Helen of Troy would be interested to learn from Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt that wars may now be brought about, not by the beauty of women, but by their reckless tongues. "Women," says Mrs. Catt, "have caused more irritation among the nations than any other influence. In my travels about the world I have noticed the tendency of women of all races to repeat, in exaggerated form, statements of men in regard to matters of race hatred and other phases of foreign policy which might make two countries spring at each other's throats." However that may be, women have ever been able to speak more freely than men, being less likely to be called to account. Moreover, as an old-time English playwright put it, "a woman without a tongue is like a soldier without a sword."

A church in Sandusky, O., built in 1854, has just discovered that it never had any cornerstone, and is making haste to remedy the oversight. A regular cornerstone, with all the usual trimmings and contents, is being installed. Undoubtedly every church should have a cornerstone, just as surely as "every home should have a grandma." But it makes a fellow think, somehow, of all the men and women who have attained a hearty and successful old age without ever giving the matter any thought, and who then, when everybody insists on knowing how they did it, proceed to work out a philosophy of life and system of diet, exercise, etc., to explain it all. Often, too, the dear old folks really come to believe implicitly in these retroactive theories, as the cornerstone on which they have built their life.

We rise to salute Mrs. Isaac Tripp of Cloud Bay, Ontario, aged 80. The other day a big, black, ferocious bear rampaged around Mrs. Tripp's cow pasture and chased one of the Tripp grandsons up a tree. That was too much for grandma. She started to lay for that b'ar. And she knew about b'ars. It happened that one of the Tripp horses had just died. Ordinarily that would be discommoding. Now it was opportune. Mrs. Tripp hauled the equine corpse to a strategic position behind the barn, for bear bait, then lay in wait with a big gun. Pretty soon Mr. Bear poked his fool head around a clump of cedars nearby, and promptly got a soft-nosed bullet between the eyes, and the Tripp family had bear steak for supper. There are Americans who boast of having had grandmothers like that, but the race is dwindling, dwindling.

RADIO RUMORS.

Here is another sin attributed to broadcasting stations. A newspaper reader, criticising the spreading of false news reports, says that the greatest offenders in this matter nowadays are the radio broadcasters.

Their offenses are not intentional, of course. They come from excess of zeal to oblige the public by giving information as promptly as possible about important events. But in this effort they probably do spread more unreliable rumors than any other news-distributing agency, and sometimes those rumors are mischievous in their effects.

Newspapers are sometimes guilty of the same offense, committed from excess of zeal. But decent newspapers generally feel obliged to scrutinize reports pretty carefully, and when they are dubious or unverifiable, either to suppress them or else print them with a frank warning of their uncertain nature. Radio announcers seem to feel far less responsibility, but are inclined to take reports from any quarter and send them out regardless of consequences.

This is a matter in which broadcasters will doubtless develop greater care and judgment as they come to appreciate the burden of responsibility carried by any news service.

FATAL BEAUTY CONTESTS.

Beauty contests, apparently starting in America and carried to greatest extremes here, have spread around the world. The result, according to the Osservatore Romano, official organ of the Vatican, has been very bad. It is one thing to show appreciation of feminine beauty. That in itself is all right, for all lovely things are to be appreciated. It is quite another thing to use feminine beauty for exploitation by thoughtless or unscrupulous business men, in such a manner as to "entice young women, who otherwise might lead normal, contented lives, into a vale of tears from which there is no exit."

As the Roman paper sees it, the public beauty contest is "one of the modern forms of social pathology based upon the dangerous action of the bacillus of vanity which, operating upon the simplest, serenest spirit, transforms it and deviates it from the habits of life in which it was brought up." Most girls, after participating in such a contest, are said to have their point of view and their associations so changed that they are unable to resume their former manner of life. Even the successful usually find that their suddenly awakened ambitions are a snare and a delusion.

There is no question that great evil has been done by this system of selfish exploitation, in giving girls false ideals and making them dissatisfied with normal life. Seldom does any possible good come of it. If there must be public prize competitions, they had better have some sounder basis than the commercialization of feminine beauty.

MAKING THE PATIENT SAFE FOR SURGERY.

I came across an expression the other day that gives an indication of the thought our physicians and surgeons give to their work.

As you know, a physician treats a case for days, perhaps weeks, and then finding medical treatment unavailing calls the surgeon to his aid. The surgeon has never seen the patient, but taking the history from the physician, he operates, perhaps sees the patient two or three times after the operation, and then his interest in the case is over. Now this is perhaps as it should be in a sense, because after all the case really belongs to the physician, and the surgeon having done his work must hand over the patient to the physician again.

However, Sir Berkeley Moynihan says "Surgery has been made as safe as possible for the patient. We must now make the patient as safe as possible for surgery." This expression is certainly worthy of our attention.

In other words a surgeon should not take everything for granted as given by the physician. The physician is of course in a good position to know the case, having treated it for some time, but the surgeon should be taken on the case for days or even weeks before the operation, instead of perhaps just an hour before.

"It is the duty of the surgeon to obtain all desirable information regarding the condition of his patient before operation, changing these condition to the patient's advantage, and after operation securing for him such conditions as may ensure his safety, and the permanent success of the operation."

The surgeon naturally needs to be skillful but "should not be the tool of other minds", simply carrying out a job that others have decided is a necessity.

This preparation before, and the supervision after operation should be a matter of team work on the part of physician and surgeon. I believe we'll all agree that when a surgeon is watching a case together with the physician, that the patient will not only be receiving the best possible attention, but will also have the comforting feeling that he is receiving the best possible attention.

2 Incorporations In Ulster County

Albany, June 7.—Over eighty million dollars in capitalization is represented in the stock companies that were incorporated in New York state last month. A report just issued by Robert Moses, secretary of state, shows that business is still forging ahead with apparently no let up in sight. There is every indication today that all existing records in New York state in the number of companies incorporating during any one year, will be broken by the end of 1927. The first five months this year have witnessed a total of 11,685 companies receiving charters from the secretary of state, as compared to 11,545 for the same period last year.

Real estate and construction firms still run heavy, there being a total of 460 of these last month. Erie county showed much activity last month, in fact the county led the state outside of the metropolis, in the number of companies incorporating, having 61 to its credit, while Nassau and Westchester counties divided second honors with 50 each. It is noticeable that where there have been real estate developments in the past few months, that mercantile establishments are now springing up and incorporating.

In Ulster county two companies with a combined capitalization of $20,000, incorporated last month.

THATCHER
BOILERS-FURNACES-RANGES

Why Architects specify Thatcher Boilers

WHEN an Architect writes "Thatcher Round Boiler" into the heating specifications, he knows that the owner will obtain complete heating satisfaction and comfort, even on the coldest days.

Among its many advantages are:

Firing periods are less frequent due to the depth of the fire-pot with its large coal carrying capacity;

The "staggered" fire travel which utilizes all hot gases and smoke instead of allowing some to escape up the chimney;

The unusually high ash-pit, eliminating burning out of grates.

There is the correct Thatcher Round Boiler to meet your individual requirements. Your dealer will tell you the size you need.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 7 (AP).—Strong buying support came into the stock market today to counteract the selling inspired by the huge increase in brokers' loans last week. While several new weak spots developed during the session, major speculative activity was again on the upside, more than two score new high records being established in the early hours of trading. Trading was in fairly heavy volume, with indications that the 2,000,000 share mark would again be crossed by a comfortable margin.

Strength of the rails were due, in part, to the limiting floating supply of many issues as a result of the withdrawal of large blocks from the market in recent months by investment interests. New peaks were established by Norfolk and Southern, Rock Island, Western Maryland common and preferred, Peoria and Eastern, Chicago and Eastern Illinois preferred, Wabash preferred and Baltimore and Ohio preferred.

Motors came to the fore again when Chrysler and General Motors touched record high levels, the former touching 49 by early afternoon and the latter crossing 203. Nash also was heavily bought. Gabriel Snubber stood out among the accessories, crossing 45 to a new peak.

Although American Water Works fell back sharply on profit taking, other public utilities continued to respond to reports of steadily expanding earnings, and the introduction of new purchasing interests Brooklyn Edison, Western Union, International Telephone and Commonwealth Power all reached new high ground.

Cuba Cane Sugar preferred broke to a new low following another sharp drop in raw sugar futures. American Woolen preferred extended its early loss to three points in reflection of the omission of the preferred dividend. Real Silk Hosiery, National Distillers common and preferred and National Tea also were conspicuously heavy.

Mexico Loses Opportunity

Mexican cigar leaf is excellent but tobacco has never assumed importance as an export. It is said that Mexico might rival Cuba if more attention were given to tobacco culture.

CAPITAL OF SICILY OLD MARITIME CITY

Founded and Made Famous by Phoenicians.

"Palermo, capital of Sicily, may become a free port, according to a decree recently approved by the Italian cabinet, empowering the government to declare 14 ports exempt from tariff regulations," says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"Palermo is on the northwestern coast of Sicily and its 12-mile crescent-shaped harbor is busy with shipping," continues the bulletin. "Inside the two long breakwaters that protect the port from the sea huge black Italian trans-Atlantic liners lie at anchor awaiting their passengers, while hundreds of smaller craft, from weather-beaten cargo boats to brightly colored pleasure craft, lazily float along or glide about over the smooth water like so many water beetles.

"Palermo has been an important city for more than 3,000 years. When the Phoenicians, one of the 15 peoples that have ruled the island, settled there they called the city Panormos (All Harbor). Then it occupied a small peninsula, shaped much like the state of Michigan, with a wide harbor nearly surrounding it. Later the silt from the inland mountains, filled the harbor bed which now forms a part of the foundation of modern Palermo.

"The trim, white ships of the steamship company that transports passengers from the Italian 'boot' to Sicily usually reach Palermo shortly after dawn, but Palermo appears wide awake. Hundreds of citizens already are on the dock shouting greetings to the newcomers or announcing their business as representative of this or that hotel.

"Lemons, oranges and sumac form the major part of Palermo's exports. A large part of the lemon crop reaches United States markets. Only the dark-skinned Sicilians, wearing their stocking caps, a distinctive part of the peasant dress, keep the visitor from imagining himself in southern Florida or southern California, although Palermo is in about the same latitude as Richmond, Va.

"In the street one sees every kind of conveyance from the street cleaning department's top-heavy cart, drawn by a tiny sympathy-provoking donker, to the smartest trap of a London type.

"But none draw such attention as the Sicilian peasant carts that, in many respects, resemble our ordinary two-wheeled dump carts. Almost every inch of the exterior is painted with some religious, legendary, or historical theme. Even the accompanying horse is decorated with mirrors and two-foot plumes resembling large feather dusters. These elaborate vehicles are used both for business and pleasure.

"A poverty-stricken Palermitan prince, baron or count will go without food to hire a carriage or feed a steed he is not able to own, to join the fashionable procession. When a noble cannot afford a private rig, he joins with another noble and purchases one. Since each noble must have his coat of arms emblazoned on the doors, these 'party rig' owners solved this problem by each one providing his own doors. So when the tired horse returns to the 'palace' with the prince, off come his doors and on go those of the duke or baron, who sedately rides off in his 'private' equipage."

Bobbed Sheep

A girl in Penacook, N. H., aged six, has been staying in the country with her grandmother and has been very desirous of playing with a pet sheep kept by one of the neighbors. Granny had forbidden her to play with the sheep because it was infested with ticks, and told the child she would get them on her.

The little girl came in the other afternoon and said: "Oh, Granny, I have had a wonderful time playing with the sheep."

Granny said: "I thought I told you not to play with the sheep or you would get sheep ticks on you!"

"Yes, I know," said the little one, "but she hasn't any sheep ticks now. She has had her hair bobbed."

The sheep had been sheared.

Parrot "Telephone Girl"

A parrot that heeds the telephone is reported from Long Island.

Milora is the name of the pet who notifies her mistress when the telephone bell rings. She belongs to Mrs. Elizabeth F. Staines of Long Island City, and if Mrs. Staines or no other member of the family is nearby when the telephone rings, the parrot cries "Telephone, telephone," until some one responds. While the telephone conversation is in progress the bird remains quiet, but when it has ceased, Mrs. Staines always says "Thank you, Milora," to which the parrot invariably replies, "Oh, that's all right."—Telephone Press Service.

Bare Feet Lure Fish

Ankles have always been known to attract "poor fish," but the first record of using feet for bait appears in Field and Stream.

Dave Webb of North Fork, Mo., apparently a fisherman of parts, writes to this national sports magazine on the advantages of such a method of catching minnows. He says, "In order to attract minnow for bait, one has but to dangle their bare feet in the river or creek where there is a good place to put a glass trap or use a dip net. In this manner the fisherman can get all he wishes."

"A good talker," said Uncle Eben, "kin make you think you think something dat you didn't know you had any intentions whatever of thinkin' about. An' while you is gettin' yoh thoughts together, he walks you something."—Washington Star.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

COPYRIGHT BY WESTERN NEWSPAPER UNION

STOPPING THE TRAFFIC

Nick and Nancy used to often wonder why Daddy so seldom said anything about the traffic in the city.

Whenever they had been to the city they were always at first afraid of all the noise and the quantities of cars and automobiles and trucks that moved so quickly along the streets.

After they had been there awhile they realized that everything was so beautifully managed by the big policemen that there was nothing to be frightened at.

But they always thought that seeing so much traffic was wonderful.

"Everything goes just like clockwork in the city, doesn't it, Daddy?" asked Nancy one morning.

"Yes," said Daddy, "it certainly does, as a rule.

"But I must tell you of a funny thing that happened one evening in a very bus part of the city.

"A cat discovered there was a piece of glass broken in the window of a butcher shop.

"Now you can just imagine how cleverly and neatly and quickly the cat got through that window!

"There was one light burning in the shop, although, of course, the shop was closed for the night.

"And then didn't the cat have a feast!

"Never before had she known the joy of having everything she wanted to eat at one time with no stopping.

Everything She Wanted to Eat.

"Some people saw what a good time the cat was having and stopped to watch her.

"And then more and more people stopped, they were so amused.

"It was just like seeing a funny play to see the cat pick out the choicest morsels of meat and play with them and then eat them.

"The crowd of people grew more and more. The street became so crowded that no one could pass by.

"Soon it was so thick with people that the cars and automobiles could not pass.

"After the cat had eaten as much as she wanted of all of the butcher's large supply of good things, a watchman suddenly appeared on the scene.

"With the help of a great many men the watchman finally succeeded in getting the crowd to move, and then he got into the shop.

"But the cat simply leaped out of the window again and disappeared into a side alley, where probably she lived, as a rule, on bits she could pick up.

"Such a looking butcher shop as it was now, for even if the cat had not quite eaten everything, she had tried everything, and she had eaten a surprising amount even for a hungry cat.

"'Well,' said one person who had been watching the cat, 'I think that the cat is the cleverest one I have ever seen.

"'Not only does she want to eat, but she knows just when to escape in time after a splended meal, and what is more wonderful than everything else, she stopped the traffic of cars and automobiles and trucks and people who might have been in a hurry to get somewhere."

In Other Words

A schoolgirl paraphrased the line "To bicker down the valley," from Tennyson's poem, "The Brook," as follows: "To have an undignified quarrel in a low place among the hills."

Another girl, given the line from "Lochinvar," "He stayed not for brake," paraphrased it: "He never stopped for a mechanical contrivance to reduce speed by means of friction."

A Give Away

Margaret is only seven years old, but sometimes quite naughty. On one occasion her mother, hoping to be particularly impressive, said "Don't you know that if you keep on doing naughty things, your children will be naughty, too?"

Margaret dimpled and cried triumphantly, "Oh, mother, now you're given yourself away."

Preparedness

Willie—What did I learn today, teacher?

Teacher—Why do you ask?

Willie—They'll want to know at home.

A Slight Precaution

Son—Can you sign your name with your eyes shut, daddy?

Father—Certainly.

Son—Well, shut your eyes and sign my school report.

Taste Swimmer's Strength

A "swimometer" is a device invented by Ray Alexander of San Francisco to test the strength of arm and leg strokes of swimmers. The machine is mounted on a tripod from which a long line is attached to the swimmer and measures up to a hundred pounds.

NEW PALTZ.

New Paltz, June 7.—The proprietors of Blue Crabe Inn are having directions printed, for reaching New Paltz from New York, which they will be glad to furnish gratuitously to boarding house keepers or others who are writing to prospective visitors to New Paltz.

Miss Lucille Brewer, who taught the nutrition classes in New Paltz under the auspices of the New Paltz Home Bureau, went to Kingston on Wednesday to score samples of food which had been sent from the various Home Bureau units in the county. Everything that was sent from New Paltz won a blue ribbon, and New Paltz Home Bureau won second place in the county.

The ladies of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church will hold a food sale Monday, June 20, in the store of Park and Oates.

The Rev. J. R. Halmshaw of the New Paltz Methodist Episcopal Church edits minutes of conference. Mr. Halmshaw's name appears as editor on the title-page of a book of some 150 pages with the following array of titles and sub-titles: Official Journal, Minutes of the One Hundred and Twenty Eight Sessions of the New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church held in Park Avenue Church, New York City, March 30-April 4, 1927, Laymen's Association held in Park Avenue Presbyterian Church April 1, 1927. With characteristic energy Mr. Halmshaw has successfully coped with the following subjects: Officers of the conference, boards, commissions and committees, daily proceedings, disciplinary questions, appointments, reports, memoirs, roll of the dead, historical, miscellaneous and pastoral record.

On Memorial Day morning the members of Sullivan Shafer Post assembled in the post rooms, accompanied by the Girl Scouts. They marched through the village to Memorial Park. At the howitzer a program was carried out, a wreath was placed on the cannon, a salute fired, and taps sounded. There was a prayer and "My Country 'Tis of Thee" was sung. Accompanied by a drum and fife corps the parade passed to the New Paltz cemetery. The services there included a brief address by the Rev. J. R. Halmshaw. Flowers were placed on graves of all soldiers. From the cemetery the party motored to Gardiner, Ireland Corners and Modena. At Gardiner they held their memorial service at the grave of Private Vincent Clinton and placed a wreath on his grave. They also visited the Modena cemetery.

Wednesday, June 8, at Colonial Hall the movies will be "Jackie Coogan" in "Johnny Get Your Hair Cut".

Wednesday, June 8, at the New Paltz Opera House will be shown "Too Many Crooks", also "Trooper 77." On Friday and Saturday, June 10 and 11, Harry Langdon in "Long Pants".

Nebraskans

By act of its legislature April 4, 1895, the state of Nebraska was styled "Tree Planters' State." However, references we have consulted also include the following nicknames: "Antelope," "Black Water" and "Corn Husker." It would seem that the only two names that would be suitable to designate a resident of Nebraska would be either "Tree Planter" or "Corn Husker."

From Jenny Lind To Lindbergh

Wittenberg, June 7.—Mrs. Lavinia E. Hulse, whose 93rd birthday was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Short, near Wittenberg, on Decoration Day, told the large gathering that she was enjoying good health and taking as keen an interest in world affairs as ever. She remembers clearly how thrilled she was when she heard Jenny Lind sing and also how great a reception New York gave to Miss Lind upon her arrival in America.

Mrs. Hulse reads with much interest the details of the great aviator, Lindbergh, who is also of Swedish ancestry.

Mrs. Hulse is the last surviving member of the family of the late Hon. Deliverance B and Lucy C. Hervey, founders of Hervey street, Greene county, N. Y. For many years she lived in Brooklyn and counted among her best friends the late Rev Henry Ward Beecher and Mrs. Beecher. Since her birth in 1834 she has witnessed the greatest headway in the world's noted achievements She takes a lively interest in politics, voted for Coolidge and sincerely hopes to vote for him again next year. She attributes her good health to moderation, optimism and above all to an abiding faith in God. Her one great hope is that America, under such presidents as Coolidge, will continue to stress the importance of righteousness and endeavor, more and more, to "tune in" on Divine guidance

The following lines, by Longfellow, were sent to her. She says they should be sent to that splendid specimen of America's young manhood, Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, viz.

"We salute you, hail you; take your hand in ours,
And crown you with affection as with flowers."

Tired.

By Clarence Mansfield Lindsay.

I'm tired of working six days in the week
For a boss whom I'm longing to bust in the beak!

I'm tired of buying fur wraps for the wife
To wear when the heat makes a burden of life!

I'm tired of feeding the tortoise-shell cat;
I'm tired of wiping my feet on the mat!

I'm tired of buying a house "just like rent"—
I'm tired of "home brews" that fail to ferment!

I'm tired of movies—the same old cheap thriller'
I'm tired of dosing with sarsaparilla!

I'm tired of golf fiends in trick panties who Make existence a curse for the rational few!

I'm tired of making repairs to a car I couldn't trade off for a ten-cent cigar!

I'm tired of hearing the singer (?) next door
Launch out on the "high C's" and "pull for the shore!"

I'm tired of yawning; I'm tired of wishing Vacation would come, so that I could go FISHING!

Mr. Bing—What's the difficulty, my dear?

New Nurses at T. B. Hospital

A new superintendent and assistant nurse are now installed at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital and it is a matter of much satisfaction to the board of managers and those interested in the work that women of such experience in this line of work have been secured.

Miss May Ward, R.N., graduate of Fulton Hospital, the superintendent nurse, came to Kingston from the Tuberculosis Home at Brooklyn, where she has been for the past four years. She has also been head nurse and matron of the Tuberculosis Hospital at Troy; was for some time connected with the Schenectady County T.B. Hospital and the T.B. Hospital at Lockport, N. Y., besides having spent some time on the nursing staff of the Niagara T.B Hospital for children.

Her assistant is Miss Alverta Clinesetter, a T.B. graduate nurse from Cresson, Pa., who has seen similar service at Loomis Sanatorium and who was connected with Miss Ward at the Brooklyn Tuberculosis Home.

It will be seen that the superintendent nurse has had wide experience in both tuberculosis nursing and in the executive work of running a hospital.

The Sport Season is Here

WITH the opening of the "Outdoor Season," novices, amateur and finished players catch the play spirit and flock to the ball fields, tennis courts and golf links. Every school yard and vacant lot is crowded with youngsters.

Cities, villages and schools are coming to recognize more and more the advisability of developing this natural tendency and new facilities are being provided so that an increasing number may have the opportunity to play.

Fully one-half of the entire population of New York State is actively interested in some form of outdoor play. These five and a half million people are actual and continuous prospects for equipment, supplies and suitable clothing. Their needs are immediate because they are playing now.

As players develop their game they need new and better equipment—they want to use the same things that the regular players use, for they, too, are becoming better players.

The sport pages of every newspaper are fairly alive with reports of local athletic contests of every description. In fact more space is devoted to sport by all newspapers than to any other one department, which plainly indicates that the interest in all sorts of play is practically universal.

The manufacturers of sporting goods have an ideal opportunity to economically sell their particular goods to this universal and ever increasing market through the newspapers of this state which are devoting so much space to sports in general. The timely interest of the news items stimulates desire.

We have at hand data concerning this "Custom-Made" market which will be very interesting and helpful to the alert manufacturer who is ready to develop a market that is far above the average in its purchasing power. Ask this newspaper or write the Advertising Bureau, New York State Publishers, 709 Charlotte St., Utica, N. Y.

25 Years of the 20th Century LIMITED

Operated continuously since 1902 on the restful water level route between New York and Chicago, the Century has become a national institution.

It has long been recognized as a great asset to American industry and commerce because its overnight service saves a business day in travelling between the nation's largest business centers.

The Century in a peculiar way typifies the spirit of American railroad achievement. It is the pride of the New York Central men who operate it and guard it night after night in its thousand-mile flight, and the standard bearer of a service known the world over as the highest development in railroad transportation.

Famous Prize Winning Guernsey Owned by Bailey

With the recent purchase at the National Guernsey Sale at Trenton, N. J., of True May Rose of the Prairie by Harry Bailey, owner of Beechford Farms at Mt. Tremper, another great Guernsey cow has been brought to Ulster county. This cow, which was purchased by Mr. Bailey at the National Sale at Trenton, N. J., for $4,300, is one of the finest cows ever brought to Ulster county and thirty-six of the fifty-eight animals in her pedigree have been champion first prize winners at the leading shows in England and on Guernsey and at the National Dairy Show. She is one of only six surviving in the True May Rose line

True May Rose of the Prairie, is descendant of May Rose 2d in the female line, has a record of 11,005.59 pounds milk, 505.8 pounds fat (class G). On a re-entry test recently in 49 days she produced 96.71 pounds fat. Among the prizes taken by her are second prize, National Guernsey Show, 1924; Peer Challenge Cup Winner, National Dairy Show, 1924; First Prize, Dairy Herd, National Dairy Show, 1924; First Prize, Dairy Herd, Dairy Cattle Congress, 1924; First Prize, Get of Sire, Dairy Cattle Congress, 1924.

True May Rose of the Prairie was born August 14, 1921.

Mr. Bailey, who owns Beechford Farms at Mt. Tremper, specializes in the raising of high bred Guernsey cattle and has one of the finest herds in the country. He believes that by raising the standard of cows kept in Ulster county the cattlemen will benefit. Although Mr. Bailey's hobby is high grade cows and his stables are models, he still finds time to operate a large general farm and poultry business in connection with the dairy business.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Reception Monday afternoon and evening was excellent. Local stations were clear and Detroit, Cincinnati, Boston, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Montreal, Toronto and other stations were received clearly. Tony at WJZ was 100 per cent. At 10:25 a buzz began that was still going at a time when even the most devoted radio fan should have been asleep.

WDBZ was destroyed in the city hall fire. Will it be rebuilt? Everybody says it will and ought to be but nobody has as yet been caught in the act of kicking in with the required cash.

Suggests Changes If Hall Is Rebuilt

Former Mayor Canfield Says Utilization of City Hall Has Been Not Over Sixty Per Cent Efficient Because of Waste Space.

Former Mayor Palmer Canfield has sent the following letter to Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey:

June 6, 1927.

Honorable Edgar J. Dempsey, Kingston, New York.

Dear Mayor:

The partial destruction by fire of our city hall is to be regretted. It has served the city for over fifty years as its official, political and geographical hub and center. The wisdom and vision of Mayor Lindsley and the people in locating it at this point when this particular section principally consisted of a road and trees cannot be overestimated.

Now the city must re-build or build anew. If a new building should be erected, it might be better to construct it in more modern type to obtain the greater beauty and utility A building of white stone and light colored brick with a suitable tower would harmonize with the high school and present surroundings.

However, I assume that because of the salvage value of the foundation, walls and floors, and for sentimental reasons it will be rebuilt according to its present form. In such event, I present several suggestions for the consideration of yourself, the common council and city officials The utilization of the city hall has not been over sixty per cent effective because of the waste space upon each of the three floors. The greater part of this waste can be removed in planning its reconstruction.

The first floor cannot be used to the best advantage for office purposes unless it can be elevated. The third floor should provide a large meeting place for the common council and other official and semi-official gatherings with a seating capacity for several hundred persons. An elevator should be installed The space upon the second floor is too valuable to be used for common council purposes only a dozen or more times each year. It is the proper place for the mayor's office directly fronting the main entrance. The corporation counsel should have an office adjoining so that city officials can consult with him properly and readily and so that the city's litigating papers can be kept there instead of in his personal office. The corporation counsel should be the most important city official next to the mayor and he should have a clerk and his salary should be not less than $3,500. His legal counsel and his advice upon all matters should be available to all officials and departments.

Naturally, one could make other suggestions of a more detailed nature The building as reconstructed may serve the public for the next fifty years. The people will be pleasingly satisfied if as much wisdom and vision can be shown in its rebuilding as was exhibited in its original location and construction.

Respectfully,
PALMER CANFIELD.

Ballad and Song

A ballad is a simple song, where each verse is sung to the same music. Song has a very broad interpretation, and has many varieties There is the simple folk song, much the same as the ballad, and the art song, where each verse is set to different music. The dictionary gives 16 different name songs, which vary in character and sentiment.

Many Charges in Wrestling Bouts

Chicago, June 7 (AP).—Professional wrestling was down on the mat today under a cloud of charges that may end its career in this state.

Shouting assertions of crookedness, fakes and "flops", witnesses before the State legislative investigating committee in a five-hour session yesterday were answered both from the stand and the floor in denials equally as loud, while promoters, managers and wrestlers called each other hard names.

No evidence was adduced, however, to show that any fake matches had been staged since the Illinois Athletic Commission took charge of wrestling last November.

A threat to introduce a repeal of the law legalizing the mat game was the legislative committee's explanation to the uproarious session.

Another and quicker result was the cancellation of the heavyweight wrestling championship match between Ed Strangler Lewis and Joe Malcewicz at Cubs Park here next Friday night. Jim Mullen, the promoter, said he would have nothing further to do with wrestling until the charges could be disproved, "if that can be done."

Plenty of testimony was heard describing the "wrestling trust." Billy Sandow, manager of Lewis and named as one of the "trust", denied he was interested in any wrestler than Lewis.

Both Lewis and Malcewicz challenged Bill Demetral, the day's star witness, to a match to refute the testimony of that mat veteran that Lewis's backers forced a $5,000 forfeit to insure Lewis's victory over Demetral in two Cleveland matches three years ago.

Amateur Golfers In Rare Form

Chicago, June 7 (AP).—Not only does an amateur hold the national open golf championship, but more than a dozen others stood qualified, or withdrew after qualifying to compete for the crown now worn by Bobby Jones of Atlanta, as a result of yesterday's 17 regional qualifying meets throughout the country.

In one meet, the low score was returned by a Simon Pure, James Manion getting the van position at St. Louis with 16 among eight survivors. He withdrew later as did four at Pittsburgh.

In the Chicago contest, the largest of the 17, Frank Thompson, formerly Canadian amateur champion, while living in Winnipeg, barely missed topping the field of 115 players; and, despite three putts on the final green, tied for third place. In addition to Jones, several other leading amateurs were relieved of qualifying for being among the first 31 in last year's tournament.

The total qualified yesterday was 110, and those plus those automatically passed and nine members of the British Ryder Cup team will constitute the 150 entrants for the 72-hole medal play at Oakmont Country Club, Pittsburgh, next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

CLERMONT A. C. TRIMS CENTRAL NINE, 16-4

The Clermont A. C. had an easy time in trimming the Central A. C. by the score of 16-4, Sunday afternoon at Hasbrouck Park.

The Centrals got Matheia for three runs in the first inning, but Matheia tightened up and didn't allow another hit until the ninth inning when the Centrals got another run.

Kilfoyle, hard hitting shortstop of the Clermonts, hit his third home run of the season in the sixth inning.

Matheia pitched a wonderful brand of ball, fanning 14 of the opposing batsmen and allowing six hits.

Manager Houghtaling of the Clermonts has booked the following games for this week, all games being played at Hasbrouck Park: Tuesday night, Canfield Supply Company; Thursday night, Hutton A. C.; Friday night, Triangles; Sunday afternoon, The Whippets of Saugerties.

The lineup of the Clermons was, H. Houghtaling, r.f.; Fisher, 2b.; Spalt, 1b.; Connors, l.f.; Kilfoyle, s.s.; J. Houghtaling, c.; Gorman, c.f. and 3b.; Murphy, c. f.; Frieze, 3b.; Matheia, p.

The batteries for the losers were: Hanley, c.; Gilday, Spader, Kieffer and Ferguson, pitchers.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press.)

Big league baseball fans today had the thrilling prospect of a duel between Chicago White Sox pitching and New York Yankee batting with the leadership of the American League at stake.

In their last game before the series with the Yankees, the second place White Sox yesterday administered a 10 to 2 defeat to the Boston Red Sox for their fourth straight victory in the east and a clean sweep of the series. Since the Yanks were idle yesterday the victory carried the Sox to within 24 percentage points of the leaders.

The White Sox latest win was another pitching triumph although the mound work was backed by better than average work afield and at bat. The game was the tenth victory in twelve starts this season for Ted Lyons whom Ray Schalk is working in rotation with Ted Blankenship and Alphonse Thomas.

While the White Sox at Boston were making things hot for the Yankees' standing, in defiance of all pre-season predictions Connie Mack of the Athletics was tinkering with his club's machinery to see what was keeping it from going faster. The result of revamping the lineup was a 4 to 2 victory over the Cleveland Indians in which Zack Wheat and Fox, the subs who were given regular jobs in the shift, played important roles.

John McGraw, with no big league game scheduled yesterday, also was considering a shakeup in a lineup which has been going none to well in the west.

To make things all the more uncomfortable for the Giants who meet the Pirates today, all the western teams in their league were going at an even faster clip.

A 7 to 5 victory for the league leading Pirates over the Phillies added to their lead while the Cards also quickened their pace by downing the Robins 6 to 2. By beating the Boston Braves, 4 to 3, in ten innings the Chicago Cubs pushed into a tie with the Giants for third place.

"The life of an actress is one of nerve-strain. If she sings, also, her worries are doubled. Her audiences reflect her moods. If she is mentally tired, she cannot help but convey her fatigue to those out in front and the result is a form of ennui on both sides of the footlights. I have found a sure cure for such fatigue, on the part of the player, is a good cigarette. For years I have smoked Lucky Strikes and the mental balm and real enjoyment I have derived from them have helped me marvelously. In addition they have protected my voice. I use no other brand."

Resolutions.

In the death of Dr. Ervin E. Norwood, The City of Kingston Hospital has suffered a great loss. He was connected with the Hospital since its organization in 1893. He had been a valued member of the Board of Managers for many years and its Secretary for a long time. He had been a member of the Medical and Surgical Staff since 1893. He was a tower of strength for the Hospital. Since being a Manager, he had attended practically every meeting of the Board that was held while he was in town. He was familiar with all the details of the Hospital management and his advice was very highly valued by his associates. A successful surgeon and physician himself, he knew the requirements of a hospital and gave the best that was in him to make this Hospital the success that it has become. His lectures to our Nurses' Training Classes were models of clearness and thoroughness and he was always willing to be of any possible assistance to our pupil nurses.

This Hospital has had for many years the distinction of being the only Hospital in this state that has been self supporting. We unreservedly feel that much of the credit for that great reputation is due to Dr. Norwood. He had much to do with the details of the management and was extremely careful of its finances.

During all the recent construction, he had been a member of the Building Committee and took a very active part in the formative and constructive work of that Committee. The new part of the Hospital will always stand as a monument to his practical genius for hospital buildings.

He was also and had been for many years a member of the Executive Committee. This Committee had the actual charge of the workings of the Hospital. It consisted of Messrs. Chandler, Coykendall and Norwood. Dr. Norwood's work on that Committee commended itself strongly to his associates on it and to the other Managers and people who came in contact with that Committee. Careful, painstaking, conservative and efficient, we know that the Hospital has lost from its management a very valued man, and that the loss of the public has been great.

So, this Board of Managers adopts this brief and partial minute of its appreciation of Dr. Norwood and orders that it be entered in full on the records, published in the daily newspapers and a copy thereof sent to the family of Dr. Norwood.

Are You Discouraged?

Here is how two men, starting from scratch at different periods of life, achieved their goal.

Gordon Roberts (left) started as an office boy twenty-six years ago. Today he's treasurer of the United States Steel Corporation. Leopold Zimmerman (right) started to build up a fortune at the age of seventy. Today, at seventy-four, he's a millionaire in Wall Street. Hard work did it in both cases.

By ELMER CLARK,
International Illustrated News Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK—(I-I-N).—Here are two stories of success. Any one may read them. But the first is for the young fellows who fear that the good jobs in industry come only to the rich, to those who have friends in high places; the second is for the old fellows, who dread the advance of age, fearing that it is becoming too late to bring in that fortune-laden ship.

GORDON ROBERTS was born forty-two years ago in the Hill Section of Brooklyn.

When he left school he was offered a job as office boy to A. F. Luke, treasurer of the National Tube Company. It was only an office boy's job, but Roberts decided to make it important. He did his work well, and stuck to the job. He was only sixteen, but he assumed the role of a man.

Soon he was found too valuable to keep as an office boy, and he went up another step. He approached his new job with the same idea that he took over the job as office boy. He'd make it important and do the best he could.

For twenty-six years Roberts has climbed, slowly but surely. He never revolutionized the steel industry, he didn't toady to his employers. But whenever a bigger job was open, they always said:

"Roberts does his work and more. He can handle it."

In 1922 he was elected assistant-secretary to the United States Steel Corporation. Then he became assistant-treasurer. Today he's treasurer, with responsibility for the more than $2,000,000,000 turned over annually in that industrial organization.

"It's just a case of taking a job with the right people, staying with it, and doing the best you know how," Roberts says. He sees nothing unusual or spectacular in his advancement. Neither do his associates. Wherever he worked his associates considered him a "big time man." And that was simply because he did his job, did it well, and did a little more.

AT the age of seventeen Leopold Zimmerman came to the United States from Germany. He busied himself at odd jobs and at learning the language. In a few years he found a place for himself in Wall street.

Then came the long uphill pull. Bit by bit he added to his store of wealth and knowledge, building for the time when he could enter business for himself. After years that came. Still the road was uphill.

After almost fifty years, Zimmerman came to the realization that he controlled the biggest brokerage business handling German and Scandinavian securities in the United States.

Then came the collapse of the German marks and the depreciation of all European countries. Securities fell faster than marks.

Zimmerman was wiped out. Every cent he had—more than $7,000,000—was gone; debts remained.

There are poorhouses for seventy-year-old men who are broke, but not for Leopold Zimmerman. He started in again approximately just where he was half a century ago.

He scraped and saved and opened an office again. He worked hard and long. He was the first in in the morning, the last out at night.

Today—four years later—he is back at the top. He's got his fortune back, and he's paying off debts which he does not legally owe.

Miss Tongue, Graduate Nurse.

Miss Ethel Tongue, who was graduated from Kingston High School in 1924, is a member of the 1927 garduating class of the Hudson City Hospital Nurses' Training School. Miss Tongue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tongue who moved from this city to Hudson several years ago. Mr. Tongue was connected with the S. E. Eighmey dry goods store for many years.

The Dahlonega Mint

There is not a mint at Dahlonega, Ga. But there was from the 1830s until the Civil war. Dahlonega is situated among the foothills of the southern portion of the Blue Ridge mountains in a gold mining region. The name is from a Cherokee phrase meaning "gold." The coins minted there were gold, and bore the mint mark "D."

Years Have Wrought Havoc in Great City

The modern traveler who visits the once-famous capital city of Pamphylia, Perga, now called Murtana, finds shepherds pasturing their flocks amid ruins of walls and towers, stone pillars, carved cornices marking sites of splendid mansions, and a decaying stone aqueduct built to supply a large number of inhabitants with fresh water.

At a little distance is a magnificent theater, or what time has left of it, one of the largest of the vast open air affairs in existence. There is also a great stadium, used probably for foot races, gymnastic displays, or even for chariot racing.

All these ruins are in a fair state of preservation, considering that fifteen or sixteen hundred years have gone by since the once grand old city was left to decay.

After all jurors presenting legal excuses had been allowed to go, there remained but 14 available men. Judge Fowler directed that 20 additional names be drawn from the county box and 10 talesmen summoned, this list to include the names of the men regularly drawn on prior terms of county court and who could not serve at that time but who at that time expressed their willingness to serve at this term. Of the men excused from service at this term there are several who will be summoned as talesman in January.

Court recessed until June 13 at 2 o'clock at which time the extra jurors will report.

Noted Speaker At C. E. Rally

On Wednesday evening, June 8, there is to be held in the Albany Avenue Baptist Church a meeting open to the general public under the auspices of the Kingston Local Union of Christian Endeavor.

The meeting will begin at 7:45 with a praise service, after which an interesting address will be given by the Rev. John E. Pickens of Troy, the assistant state field secretary of the New York State Union.

Those who were so fortunate to attend the State Convention at Troy in 1925 will remember that it was due in a large measure to the efficient work of Mr. Pickens that the convention was such a success and will know that he is an efficient worker in Christian Endeavor as well as an entertaining speaker.

It is hoped that a large audience will be present to greet him in Kingston.

FLOWER SHOW IN WINDOWS OF UP-TO-DATE STORE.

The central show window of The Up-To-Date Store on Wall street presents a picture of surpassing beauty, being filled with flowers from the gardens and arranged by members of The Ulster Garden Club. Of all the exhibits made by this club, the present is perhaps the most beautiful and artistic.

Iris of exquisite shades of what is called "orchid," shading into pink or deeper purple, and yellow and white Iris predominate. They with huge purple velvet pansies, clusters of forget-me-nots, columbine of lovely tints, luscious pale pink peonies and fraxinella, together with finer flowers and foliage are most artistically grouped in floral baskets, neutral tinted vases, tall and stately, or in lower pieces of handsome pottery on accompanying pedestals.

There is one large cluster of deep pink poppies arranged with the feathery bloom of the fringe bush. This gives but a very limited idea of the wonderful display which it will be well worth the time of flower lovers to see this evening or tomorrow.

Monster of Cruelty

Nero, emperor of Rome from 54 to 68 A. D., was the last of the line that descended from the Caesar family. He was one of the most wicked monsters of whom history contains an account. Among those he murdered were his mother and two of his wives. He invented specially cruel deaths for the Christians whom he falsely accused of burning Rome. He was on the throne when St. Paul was a prisoner in Rome, and when he was put to death. The army, led by Galba, turned against Nero. He either committed suicide or was put to death by a small band of soldiers.

Moon and Clouds

The popular impression that the full moon has the power to clear away clouds disappears slowly, notwithstanding the almost unanimous pronouncement of modern scientists against it. That may be largely due to the fact that so great an authority in his day as Sir John Herschel regarded the idea as probably correct. After a study of the Greenwich observations it was suggested that the impression may be due to the fact that a change from the cloudy to the clear state is much more likely to attract attention when there is a full moon in the sky, and many meteorologists agree with this.

Soviet Minister To Poland Slain

Warsaw, Poland, June 7 (AP).—The Soviet minister to Poland, M. Wojkoff, was assassinated at the Warsaw Central Railway station today by Boris Kowarda, a young Russian student.

(M. Wojkoff is declared by the London Evening News to have been "Pierre Voykoff" who, the paper says, signed the death warrant of Czar Nicholas and the Russian imperial family.)

The minister had gone to the station to meet A. P. Rosengolz, former charge d'affaires in London, en route to Moscow after leaving London because of the recent breaking of diplomatic relations between England and the Soviet.

During the train stop of an hour here M. Wojkoff and Rosengolz had coffee and then walked the platform. Shortly before the train was due to leave, young Kowarda approached and, drawing a revolver, fired six shots.

Although mortally wounded in the breast, M. Wojkoff had the strength to draw his own pistol, but collapsed before he could use it. The minister was caught by a policeman as he was sagging to the platform.

The stricken minister was hurried to a hospital, where he died.

Light Bulbs

Before discarding an electric light bulb place it on a drop light, turn on the current and shake the bulb, holding it between you and the light. Then try it on the light; the chances are it may do service for several months longer. The fine wires of the filament have a habit of becoming disconnected. By shaking it the parts come together again, making the bulb as good as new.

Won Fame as Navigator

George Vancouver was born in England in 1758. He served as a midshipman under Captain Cook during the latter's last voyage to the Pacific, which ended with Cook's murder by the natives of the Sandwich Islands. Vancouver later carried on the work of exploration in the Pacific. In 1792 he surveyed the shores of what is now British Columbia. Vancouver Island and Vancouver city are named after him. He died in England in 1798, leaving a detailed account of his voyages.

A New York publisher says that 88 per cent of fiction is produced at a loss. The fact that publishers are good fellows may explain why fiction nevertheless leads other classes of printed books.

In ages past, kings built pyramids, aqueducts, highways, bridges and great castles, and just the other day in Europe one got out a patent on an elastic loop for holding a flower in the lapel.

Fast Scotia Team Next Attraction

The Colonials will not have to tackle the Schenectady police next Sunday afternoon as the scheduled game has been called off. Instead of battling the minions of the law the Culloton-Robins aggregation will stack up against a team of fast-stepping diamond performers of Scotia, a community near Schenectady. The players who will represent the upstate abode at the Fair Grounds will give the local boys a deal to worry about for their record furnished Lou Brown, booking agent for the Colonials, registers victories over the Schenectary minions of the law, and a defeat which they handed Buck Ewing's All-Stars. The colored aggregation defeated the Scotia team once this season. They will warm up for their meeting with the Colonials on Saturday when they will stack up against the D. & H. Generals upstate.

The game with the Schenectady police team will be played at the Fair Grounds the Sunday following the game with Scotia. The date will be June 19.

Game Tonight At Block Park

The Highbinders and the Port Ewen Men's Club will furnish the attraction at Block Park tonight for the many fans who enjoy evening games at the Abeel street diamond. A contest which will be played in scintillating style is expected to be the outcome of the teams' meeting. Just who will compose the lineup of the Port Ewen nine yet remains a mystery. Alex Ostrander and Tommy Cullen are scheduled to do the battery portion for the Seventh ward warriors. Scott Sleight, who is the regular receiver of the team, will again be behind the bat tonight.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES.

Reade's Kingston Theatre will feature Dotson, colored comedian, who has been called by popular request, after an absence to again perform at the theatre. At the performances Monday he received boisterous applause for his offerings of comedy and novel steps. There are three other Keith-Albee acts on the program with the cinema attraction "Sorrows of Satan" and a film depicting the landing of Captain Charles A. Lindbergh in Paris.

The Auditorium Theatre will present "Bitter Apples", starring Monte Blue. Current news events will also make up the program.

St. Bernard's Millennium

There are three St. Bernards figuring in history besides St. Bernardino but the one which is most generally known is St. Bernard of Menthon, who was the one who established the hospices in the Alpine snows that were originally intended to take care of the pilgrims making their weary way over the mountain passes from the Rhone valley of Switzerland, to the plains of Italy, at Aosta. The noblest breed of dogs in the world has done its full share in spreading the fame of this saint, who has occupied a place in the popular mind for 1,000 years. There is some uncertainty as to the exact time when this St. Bernard roamed the earth, but the locally accepted date has been taken for the celebration of the millenium of the birth of this patron of the mountain passes.

World Use of Latin

Even after the downfall of the western Roman empire in the Fifth century, Latin continued to be what may be called an international language. It was the written language of all higher education. In the matter of physicians' prescriptions the use of Latin is a remnant of that international standing of the language. It makes a prescription good in any civilized country.

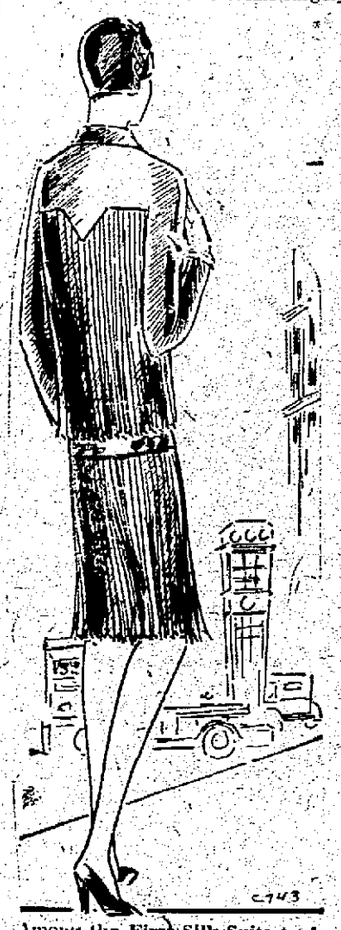
SILK SUITS WIN THEIR WAY TO FAVOR—PARIS REPORTS ARE OF GRAY FOR FALL, BUT FOR THE MOMENT THE SMART WORLD IS IN BLUE

New York—The silk suit has won considerable favor. For sports wear, there are novelty weaves, and some models in Shantung and pongee, but for town wear, one finds crepes and taffetas more in demand.

Pleated skirts continue undimmed, despite rumors from overseas that their vogue is diminishing and that the newer models show an admirable tendency toward discreetly placed flares. Throughout the summer, which is sufficiently far ahead for the average woman to look, pleats will be above and beyond criticism for all sorts of purposes. The flare for fall may come or pass, but the pleat will go on until one begins to weary of it, which, from all indications, will be at some far distant time.

The smoothly fitted hip-line is one of the details on which all designers appear to agree, and a detail on which smartness of silhouette seems largely to depend. Jackets may be loose above a snug girdle, such as the Zouave or bolero, or they may be double-breasted, such as a "smoking," but they always end at the hip and in such a way as either to define or reveal a snug hip-line.



Among the First Silk Suits to Appear Was a Short Jacket Pleated Affair Made of Navy Blue Flat Crepe. The Blouse, Which Shows Beneath the Jacket, Was Printed in Brilliant Blues and Reds.

From observation hereabout and from reports from abroad, it would appear that there was a marked preference for one-sided effects, not only in the opening of coats or dresses, but in draperies, and still a decided preference for broken lines, which includes the uneven hem-line. At the midsummer openings, Louiseboulanger and Doeuillet both scored with a silhouette showing an upward front line. An uneven hem is kindly to most figures, and the Egyptian front drapery is certainly effective, especially for evening.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

(©, 1927, Western Newspaper Union.)

Some hearts there are like springs that bubbling burst to follow dusty ways,
And run with offered cup to quench his thirst where tired traveler strays.
They never think of asking if he wants what 'tis their joy to give,
And all their lives are spent in being spent, so self-bestowed they live.

FOODS WE LIKE

If the turkey is not at hand, any fowl may be used for the following sandwiches:

Turkey Sandwiches.—Chop fine three heads of crisp celery. Take three cupfuls of cold cooked turkey from the breast, or light meat. Blanch and shred one and one-half cupfuls of almonds. Mix all lightly together, season with salt and pepper and moisten with mayonnaise. Cut thin slices of white bread and spread with pimento butter. Spread half the slices with a thick layer of the mixture and the remaining slices with crisp lettuce, spread with mayonnaise. Put together in pairs, press edges together and cut into three-inch strips. Garnish each sandwich with stars cut from pimentoes. At the point of the star place a tiny pearl onion.

Tea Sandwiches—Spread thin unsweetened wafer crackers with quince, orange marmalade, or any fruit jam. Set another wafer over the one spread with fruit and arrange in a dainty basket or a plate covered with a lace paper doily. Serve with tea, cocoa or chocolate.

Orange Meringue Pudding.—Slice three oranges in a pudding dish, sprinkle with sugar to taste. Make a custard from the yolks of three eggs, one tablespoonful of cornstarch, one-fourth of a cupful of sugar, salt, vanilla and one cupful of milk. Cook in a double boiler until smooth and well cooked, then cool and pour over the oranges. Beat the whites of the eggs until stiff, add one tablespoonful of orange juice and one tablespoonful of sugar. Heap lightly on the pudding and set into the oven to brown the meringue.

Banana Cream Pie.—Bake a rich pastry shell, place on a chop plate and fill with sliced bananas; over this spread sweetened and flavored whipped cream.

Eleanor Gunn Says

The separate blouse is now purchasable with a bow or flower on the shoulder, proving how far reaching a fad becomes.

A flesh-colored chiffon frock with long tight sleeves is remarkable because of having rhinestone bracelets, with an occasional one of emeralds and rhinestones attached in rows just below the elbow, these not being bracelets but a part of the dress.

Embroidered net shawls, in gold or silver, are a delightful fashion.

Net dance and bridal dresses are very much to the fore.

Narrow pipings or bindings of contrasting color are a feature of some of the new blouses, also of dresses of the two-piece type.

Red accessories continue to be seen, but the all white boutonniere is the universally approved one.

All smart shops report a tremendous demand for novelty sweaters.

The coat with the large bow on the shoulder is the fad of the season.
